New York Stock Market

New York, August 16.—The stock market to-day manifested a very decided disposition to awaken its lethargy of the previous day by making a number of substantial advances. Trading was more active and embraced many specialties, such as Colorado Fuel and Iron, Colorado Southern, American Beet Sugar, National Biscuit, American Beet Sugar, National Biscuit, American Iee, Central Leather and International Harvester. The movement in these stocks was almost wholly manipulative and presumably for account of various pools.

Later in the day the more active issues, including Reading, Union Pacific, Southern Facific, Achison, United Copper and American Smelting participated in the advance. Rumors of a forthcoming segregation of Reading assets were once more revived and received some credence by reason of the strength of Lehigh Valley in the Philadelphia market.

Canadian Pacific was active and assets were once more revived and received some credence by reason of the strength of Lehigh Valley in the Philadelphia market.

Canadian Pacific was active and strong in connection with reports that the company had increased its sphere of activity by the purchase of the Alian Line of steamships.

The day's adverse news features included the regular trade report for July, which showed another excess of imports over exports, a reduction in the dividend on the preferred stocks of the United States Cast Iron Pipe Company, the filing of a petition in banktruptcy against one of the smaller Southern iron companies, and the threatened local bricklayers, lockout, involving over 10,000 men. On the other hand, market improvement was respecting crops was at least favorable. On the Stock Exchange sentiment was more cheerful, traders taking the ground that the immediate outlook seems conducive to a better market. The opinion, however, was almost wholly negative in character, being founded largely on the belief that many contingencles have already been discounted by the present price levels and that stocks are no longer being founded largely on the belief that many contingencles have already been discounted by the present price levels and that stocks are no longer being founded largely on the belief that many contingencles have already been discounted by the present price levels and that stocks are no longer being founded to be a more active demand for the better market of bonds, and that the market offers more encouragement than for a long time past.

Local financial institutions continue to make disbursements save for legitic mate purposes. Their attitude is based on the fact that a great many Western and Southern banks still have heavy loan expansions on real estate. In the late session the market became more brisk and a generally higher level of price was recorded. This advance was almost fully maintained to the close, which was active and strong.

to the close, which was activity.

London, where the tone of the market was more cheerful with the further recovery in consols, was again a seller here at the outset, but bought moderately in the late session.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, August 16.—An early decline in the cotton market, due to a little scattering liquidation and bear pressure on reports of a break in the Texas drought, was followed by a sharp raily when no important rainfall was officially reported in the droughty district, and the market closed steady at a net advance of 4@19 points. The opening was steady at an advance of 5 points on August, but generally 1@5 points lower, and active positions soon sold off to a net loss of 10@16 points under local selling and scattering liquidation, attributed to reports of rain in south and central Texas. The weather map showed 1.43 inches at Houston, and private wires were received claiming that rain had fallen more or less generally throughout central Texas, but comparatively little long cotton seemed to be coming on the market, and when the official report showing the weather details for Texas was published the market turned decidedly firmer on covering by early sellers. The weekly report of the Weather Bureau, reading builishly as to Texas and the western belt forceast, which called for showers only in the northern part of Texas, added the upward movement, which, however, was led by August rather than by new crop positions.

There seemed to be very little August for sale, and Wall Street shorts were evidently by August rather than by new crop posi-tions.

There seemed to be very little August for raile, and Wall Street shorts were evidently trying to cover, sending the price up to a net gain of 21 points. The new crop sold 4@11 points net higher in the late trading, and closed only 203 points off from the best. The detailed Texas report showed showers at only a few points in the South-west, the rainfall having been chiefly in the northern part of Texas, which has not recently been complaining of drought. Trade interest were fair buyers here on the early decline, and the advance in the late trad-ing reflected some fresh buying through commission houses as well as covering of bales: to the Continent, 2,493,195 bales.

New Oricans, August 15.—Cotton—Spot cotton unchanged; middling, 14 15-6c. Cotton futures opened quiet at a decline of 12% points on reports of rain in Toxas. Cables were about as expected. The weather map did not indicate much or any rain in the western belt, but the market was flooded with telegrams telling of rains at many points where they were badly needed. This caused a heavy selling movement for both accounts, which increased when the weather forecast for the western half of the belt, predicting showers for to-night and to-morrow, was posted. Profit-taking by shorts became general toward the middle of the market during the entire morning session. A feature of the morning was the receipt here of the first new bale from Mississippl, which sold at auction at noon for lic, per pound. In the afternoon session the market acted somewhat oversoid and the tone became firm. Prices advanced sharpity soon after the noon hour, and at 2 o'clock were 7 points over yesterday's last quotations. This rise seemed to be due to the covering of several large short lines put out immediately after the first call this morning. The market closed steady at a net advance of 56% points. Futures closed steady: Closing bids: August 14.09; September, 13.75; January, 13.41; March, 13.52; May, 13.58.
